Butz Enterprises Announces New Hire

Lehigh Valley, PA, August 15, 2011 . . . Butz Enterprises Inc., consisting of Alvin H. Butz, Inc.,

Alexander Building Construction Co. and Shoemaker Construction Co., has hired Larry Warner as a Virtual Construction Coordinator and Project Engineer. In his role as Virtual Construction Coordinator, Warner will help to train and educate employees of the Butz Enterprise Companies on the emerging trends and management techniques associated with Project Level Building Information Modeling (BIM).

Warner earned a Bachelor of Architectural Engineering degree with an emphasis in Construction Management from The Pennsylvania State University. He is a LEED Green Associate and Engineer in Training and a member of the Partnership for Achieving Construction Excellence. Warner brings more than 10 years of experience with computer programs such as AutoCad, including 3-D modeling, Revit, Navisworks, Microsoft Project, Primavera, and Constructware. He has worked on multiple projects in his career, most recently the Department of Defense's new housing complex in Fairfax, Virginia. This 2.4 million square feet, 2 billion dollar BRAC funded project sits on a 130 acre site and will house 8,500 employees.

In addition to his construction experience, Warner is a registered EMT-Basic and Logistics Officer for the University Ambulance Service and has earned the position of a Level 3 USA Hockey Referee. Warner will be working out of Alexander's State College office and will begin his immediate assignment on the Beaver Stadium North Endzone project. "Larry brings extremely valuable construction management and construction technology expertise to the Butz Family of Companies that will help to elevate our current team's expertise and keep ahead of the technological curve" says Chris Magent, General Manager General Manager, Alexander Building Construction - State College and Executive Level Enterprise BIM Champion.
